

TEMPLE UNIVERSITY

POLICIES AND PROCEDURES

Title:	Emergency Communications and Timely Warnings
Policy Number:	04.61.01
Issuing Authority:	Office of the President
Responsible Officer:	Senior Vice President and Chief Operating Officer
Date Created:	August 15, 2010
Date Last Amended/Reviewed:	November 2022
Date Scheduled for Review:	January 2024
Reviewing Office:	Office of Emergency Management

Scope of Policy:

Temple University recognizes its responsibility to provide accurate and timely information to the campus community during emergencies. This policy establishes the approval process, criteria and method for communicating with students, faculty and staff in the event of a campus emergency.

Definitions:

TU Alert

Used to communicate information regarding an incident that occurs on campus that is deemed an emergency or dangerous situation involving an immediate threat to the health or safety of students or employees requiring immediate action on the part of the campus community. This is an e-mail, a text message to registered mobile phones, and/or a voice message.

Timely Warning

Used to communicate in a manner that is timely and will aid in the prevention of similar crimes certain crimes occurring in the designated reporting areas required by the Clery Act: (1) on campus, (2) on public property within or immediately adjacent to the campus and (3) in or on non-campus buildings or property that the institution owns or controls. Timely warnings will be issued for certain crimes reported to Temple Police or local police agencies when the crimes are considered by University officials to represent a serious or continuing threat to students and employees. Timely warnings will keep victim identities confidential to the fullest extent possible. Communication may be by e-mail; a posting in campus buildings; and/or providing information by other electronic means.

TU Siren

Used only to alert the campus community of a threat imminent to or occurring on campus that is deemed a catastrophic and life-threatening situation (e.g., severe weather, release of hazardous material, lockdown because of a violent threat). The siren will indicate the need to get indoors immediately in accordance with shelter-in-place or lockdown procedures, unless otherwise directed. A TU Alert message will accompany the TU Siren.

Policy:

Upon confirmation of a significant emergency or dangerous situation involving an immediate threat to the health or safety of students or employees on campus, the President, the Senior Vice President and Chief Operating Officer, or the Vice President of Public Safety and/or their designees, taking into account the safety of the community, will determine the type and content of the notification to the Temple community, and will initiate the campus notification procedures.

Temple University has various systems in place for communicating information to faculty, students, and staff. Some or all the following methods may be activated in the event of an immediate threat on campus: e-mail, text messaging, and/or voice message. Notifications will be sent without delay, unless issuing a notification will compromise the efforts to assist the victim or to contain, respond to, or otherwise mitigate the emergency.

Reports about criminal activity generally will not trigger an emergency communication unless it is determined there is an immediate threat to the health or safety of students or employees. There are, however, instances when university officials may deem it appropriate to send Timely Warnings to students and employees regarding criminal activity in or around campus that does not involve an immediate threat but involves a pattern that is deemed a continuing threat to students or employees.

The Temple University home page (www.temple.edu) may be updated with information following incidents that require the use of the TU Siren or a TU Alert. An emergency telephone number, or hotline, may also be posted for those needing to call in for recorded updates on the situation. The university will provide additional information as it becomes available or an 'all clear' message when appropriate. If activated, both the home page and the hotline will be updated.

Test

Temple University will test its emergency notification and evacuation procedures at least annually.
